

"The City of London has seen a sustained reduction in crime for the past five years. This has been a significant achievement and has only been accomplished with the support of the City of London Crime Prevention Association, which provides one of the vital links between the Police and the Community."

Mike Bowron,
Commissioner of Police for the City of London.

CITY OF LONDON
CRIME PREVENTION
ASSOCIATION

The aim of the City of London Crime Prevention Association is to prevent and deter crime in the financial, commercial and residential sectors within the City of London.

A forum exists within the City of London that encourages co-operation in developing crime prevention measures between the City of London Corporation, the City of London Police, and the financial, retail, commercial and residential communities. A major contributor to this forum is the City of London Crime Prevention Association (CoLCPA).

Knowing the risks, understanding what can be done to tackle the risk, and providing members with a network of like-minded professionals, is the thrust behind the CoLCPA.

The Patron of the CoLCPA is the Chairman of the Police Authority for the City of London. With over 300 members, primarily from the financial and business sectors within the City of London, the Association is unique in the United Kingdom.

Membership benefits of the CoLCPA include:

A programme of regular events covering a range of current topics such as counter terrorism, security technology, IT security, identity theft, fraud, pre-employment/client screening, business continuity, travel safety and more.

Specialist speakers who are experts in their respective fields.

High level input from, and co-operation with, the City of London Police.

Regular updates on crime and counter terrorist activities within the City of London provided by the City of London Police.

Access to prominent members and local officers of the City of London Police.

Notification of events being held within the City of London that may affect the business and residential communities.

Information and advice available on crime prevention from the City of London Police, the Corporation of London's Crime & Disorder Partnership and other organisations.

Networking opportunities to meet with like-minded professionals.

Participation in a highly respected, professional association that adheres to a code of conduct.

City Security Magazine issued on a complimentary basis four times a year.

Women's Network Group meetings that provide information on a variety of relevant security issues.

Prestigious locations of meetings held at historic locations such as the Livery Halls in the City of London.

Although the CoLCPA is an independent organisation, it benefits from essential guidance and support from the City of London Police and the City of London Corporation.

Such is the importance attached to the continuation and development of the CoLCPA that personal encouragement has been given by the Home Office, the Chairman of the Police Authority for the City of London and the Commissioner of the City of London Police.

The Association has been granted charitable status and, to this end, has provided financial support to a number of crime prevention initiatives and projects embracing the City community as a whole.
